

Stop paying for materials by the pound.

Champ protects your bottom line and your conduit installations. When galvanized rigid or PVC-coated steel conduit are used, Heavy threatens to bite into your budget. Champ fights back with a product that's light, yet strong, knocking Heavy out and outperforming those products.

When you use Champion Fiberglass conduit, you're starting with lower material cost and an extremely lightweight, easy-to-install product. That means shorter installation times and lower manpower costs. Newly increased support spans for multiple diameters require fewer supports, further decreasing costs. It all adds up to more savings.
